AHA Scientific Sessions 2010 Final Program American Heart Association AHA
The Final Program for AHA 2010, listing all events and sessions.

Scientific Sessions is structured around seven cardiovascular cores that reflect the evolution of scientific investigation and practice; include and integrate basic, clinical, population and translational science; and will increase interaction among attendees. Our goals in organizing this year's Scientific Sessions are listed below. With your participation, we will accomplish them.

*

To present recent advances in the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of cardiovascular disease and stroke for physicians, scientists (basic, clinical population and translational), nurses and healthcare professionals.

*

To present new clinical research advances through the Late-Breaking Clinical Trials sessions.

*

To provide a forum for the exchange of new research by scientists/investigators working in cardiovascular disease and stroke.

*

To provide an opportunity, in various forums including small groups, for attendees to interact with experts in question-and-answer sessions related to daily practice and public health issues.

*

To provide, through the Cardiovascular Seminars, How-To Sessions, Daytime Seminars and Sunday Morning Programs, a review of current patterns in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of cardiovascular disease and stroke.

*

To provide attendees, through the Plenary Sessions, an opportunity to learn about state-of-the-art cardiovascular research and how it applies to clinical practice.
